

Yale University
School of Music
Post-Graduation Activities of the Classes of 2007, 2008, and 2009

In June, 2010, the School of Music sent a brief survey to about 300 of its graduates from the Classes of 2007, 2008, and 2009. The survey asked about the graduates' employment status. Responses were received from 131 graduates (44%).

Note: because graduates of the School typically hold multiple positions simultaneously, they were allowed to “check all that apply” in the survey. For example, if someone did freelance work, played in a major ensemble, and taught private lessons, they would have checked all of those boxes in the survey.
