

Yale School of Public Health

Effective for the 2010-11 academic year, the Yale School of Public Health now offers a certificate program in the Biostatistics Division called the Regulatory Affairs Certificate Program.